Peek Inside the Book

Lovehe seemed to have missed it. Or was the love that others told about a mere fabrication of perfervid imagination, an exaggeration of the commonplace, a glorification of insipid monotonies such as made up his love life? Was love a combination of circumstances, or sheer native capacity of soul? In those days love was, for him, still the eternal puzzle; for love, as he knew it, was a stranger to love as he divined it might be. Paz...

Reader's Opinions

"Dead Stars" is actually a short story written by Paz Marquez Benitez in 1925, which ushered in an era of Philippine writing in English. The story is mainly about three people: Esperanza, Alfredo Salazar, and Julia Salas. Esperanza and Alfredo are...

It's funny how we can all be Alfredo, Esperanza even Julia at one point in our lives. It's really crazy, this thing we all call 'love'. It can bring us pain, hope, happiness, it can even make us dream...But maybe, we have to stop loving...
